CALL FOR PARTICIPATION

EIGHTH WORKSHOP ON EARLY MODERN GERMAN HISTORY

Friday 30 October 2009
German Historical Institute London

General Aim
The first workshop ran in 2002 and has now established itself as the principal forum for cross-disciplinary discussion of new research on early modern German-speaking Central Europe. Previous themes have included artistic and literary representations, medicine and musicology, as well as political, social, economic and religious history. Contributions are welcome from those wishing to range outside the period generally considered as 'early modern', and from those engaged in comparative research on other parts of early modern Europe. The Workshop is sponsored by the German History Society, and the German Historical Institute London and participation is free, including lunch.

Format
The day will be organised as a series of themed workshops, each introduced by a panel chair and consisting of two to three short papers and a general discussion. The point of the papers is to present new findings or work-in-progress in summary form, rather than extended detailed discussion. Accordingly, participants are encouraged to:

- keep to 10 minutes
- highlight major findings or questions
- indicate how work might develop in the future
- provide a short outline (no more than 1 side of A4) in advance for distribution to participants

The day will start around 10 am and finish around 5pm.

How to take part
If you are interested in presenting a short paper, please send a short synopsis by 26 June 2009 to:

Prof Peter H. Wilson
Dept. of History
University of Hull
Hull, HU6 7RX
Email: p.h.wilson@hull.ac.uk

If you are interested in attending as a participant, please contact:

Dr Michael Schaich
German Historical Institute
17 Bloomsbury Square
London, WC1A 2NJ
Email: schaich@ghil.ac.uk