

GERMAN HISTORICAL INSTITUTE LONDON
DEUTSCHES HISTORISCHES INSTITUT LONDON

Workshop Slave Revolts and (Anti)-Imperialism, GHI London, March, 4th - 5th 2010

Thursday, 4th March

9.15 - 9.30h Welcome (Benedikt Stuchtey, GHIL)

9.30 - 11.30h “Slave Revolts in Antiquity”

- Keith Bradley (University of Notre Dame)
“Revolt and Resistance: Spartacus and Roman Slavery”
- Piotr Wozniczka (University of Trier)
“Some Remarks on Diodorus’ Narrative about the First Sicilian Slave War
(138?-132 B.C)”

11.30 - 12.00 h Coffee Break

12.00 - 14.00h “New Perspectives on Slave Revolts in the Americas I”

- Mary Turner (Institute for the Studies of the Americas/ Institute for Commonwealth Studies, SAS, University of London)
“On Site Slave Worker Resistance and Armed Revolts in the Americas: Boundaries and Connections”
- Gelien Matthews (University of the West Indies, St. Augustine)
“The Revolutionary Discourse of British Abolitionists”

14.00 - 15.00 h Lunch

15.00 - 18.30h “Slave Revolts, Resistance and Literature”

- Ulrich Pallua (University of Innsbruck)
“Resistance to Imperialist Dehumanisation: Oroonoko, Prince of Africans”
- Peter J. Kitson (University of Dundee)
“Thelwall's Saint Domingue: Slave Resistance in The Daughter of Adoption(1801)”

Coffee Break 17.00 -17.30h

- Adrian Knapp (University of Innsbruck)

“‘The Great Duty of our Age and our Race [is] Showing that Blacks are Men – fit to Govern as to Serve’: Literary Representations of Rebellion against Colonial Slavery and Oppression”

19.30 Dinner in a nearby restaurant

Friday, 5th March

9.30- 11.30h “New Perspectives on Slave Revolts in the Americas II”

- Jochen Meißner (Humboldt University Berlin)

“Jihad in Bahia? The Relevance of Fighting a ‘Holy War’ for a Slave Revolt in 19th-century Brazil”

- Antonio Jesús Pinto Tortosa (Centro de Ciencias Humanas y Sociales, Madrid/ Institute for the Studies of the Americas, SAS, University of London)

“‘There Would run more Blood than in the Guarico’: The Epiphany Black Plot in Puerto Rico”

11.30 – 12.00h Coffee Break

12.00 – 14.00h “Race and Cultural Narratives of Slave Revolts”

- Raphael Hörmann (University of Rostock/GHIL)

“‘A White Baby Stuck Onto a Spear’: Racial Violence and Anti-Colonial Resistance in Gothic and Neo-Gothic Narratives of Caribbean Slave Revolts”

- Alan Rice (University of Central Lancashire)

“Black Presence, Black Absence and Black Radicalism: The Ferment of Dissidence and its Memory in the Black Atlantic”

14.00 -14.30 Lunch